

The Daily Gazetteer.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1745.

the AUTHOR of the DAILY GAZETTEER.

SIR,

Have lately seen a Manuscript Pamphlet, which will soon be publish'd, entitled, Masters of Fact stated; plainly proving, That a Harbour opening into the Downs, near Sandown Castle, may be made; which would be much better, safer, and more commodious in every respect, than that of Dunkirk.

PART I. Relating to Dunkirk.

An Account of the many fruitless Attempts of the French towards making Harbours on their Coast, open to the British Channel.—A succinct History of Dunkirk.—A particular Description of its Roads and Harbour, when in its most perfect State.—Detail several Squadrons of Ships of War, as well as Men, fitted out at Dunkirk in the last War; their Number of Guns, and Men; on what Service employ'd, and with what Success.—The Number of Ships brought into Dunkirk during that Period, with those, including those ransomed at Sea.

The Number of Merchant Ships which sailed out of Dunkirk in the same Interval of Time, and whether

A Description of a new Harbour (in every respect preferable to that of Dunkirk when most flourishing) which the French began at Mardyke, even before Dunkirk was demolished.—A Translation of Monsieur de Stair's Memorial to the Ministers of Lewis and Clark, Vth, for obtaining the complete Demolition of Dunkirk, and that of the new Harbour at Mardyke.

Monsieur de Stair's Memorial of Monsieur le Blanc (promoted by the Regent of France to the Post of Secretary at War) sent to the French King, in Opposition to the mention'd Memorial; shewing the many Advantages which would accrue to the French, both in War, by opening a new Harbour near Mardyke, and the Mischiefs and Dangers which the English, in particular, might justly fear from such a Harbour.—Highly worthy the Perusal, and the very serious Consideration of every Person who has any Regard for the Safety and Trade of Great Britain.

PART II. Relating to the Downs.

Description of the Road called the Downs, and adjacent Country.—Some Account of the Attempt, in the Time of King Edward VI, for making a Harbour from Sandwich into the Downs; and Description of its Remains, with Remarks.—

Copy of the Report, and Substance of the Estimate made in by the Commissioners appointed by Q. Elizabeth, in 1574, for taking a Survey of Sandwich Haven; giving their Opinion as to the making a better Harbour nearer Sandown Castle; with Remarks.—Copy Plan, Report and Estimate, deliver'd in by the Commissioners appointed in 1706, to survey, and estimate the Expence of a new Harbour from Sandwich into the Downs; to which is prefix'd a Copy of their Instructions, and the Certificate of the Flag Officers, and many others of the Ships of her Majesty's Royal Navy, who gave it as their Opinion, That such a Harbour would be of general Advantage to the Public; with Reasons.

The Substance of the Evidence produc'd by the Committee appointed by the Honourable the Commons, to examine the Matters contain'd in Petitions presented to the House April 2, 1736, praying for a new Harbour near the Downs. The Address of the Honourable the House of Commons to his Majesty, April 24, 1744, for a new Survey to be taken, with an Estimate of the Expence of a new Harbour propos'd to be made near Sandown Castle; together with his Majesty's most gracious Answer.

Instructions issued in Consequence thereof.—Copy of Instructions from the Navy-Board, to the Persons appointed to take the Survey, and make the Estimate.—Copy of the whole Proceedings of the said Persons, with their Report, Plans, and Estimates, as delivered to the Lords of the Admiralty.

Impartial Comparison, between a new Harbour, which may be open'd into the Downs near Sandown Castle, and the Harbour of Dunkirk in its most perfect State, under the following Heads.—

Importance of the Situation.—Admirably Healthy Place.—Ftness of the Ground.—Plenty and Cheapness of the necessary Materials for the Spot.—Sufficient Depth of Water.—Setting of the Tides.—Plenty of Backwater to scour and preserve the Harbour.—Sebly, Convenience, not only for building and fitting, but also for docking large Ships of War, and the largest Merchant Ships, at any Time, without waiting for Spring Tides; an Advantage of the utmost Consequence, both in Peace and War, and which no Port in Great Britain now affords.—Whence will evidently appear, that the Advantages of the Harbour propos'd in the Downs, near Sandown Castle, would far exceed all those which Dunkirk was reckon'd to have, when in its most perfect State; and might be completed at a very inconsiderable Expence, if compared with the vast Sums which Dunkirk cost.—Queries relating to the great Importance of having such a Harbour in the Downs, sent to the Author by a Lover of his Country; and submitted to the Public.

Illustrated with all the necessary Plans and Maps, engraved on Copper Plates, from actual Surveys and original Drawings.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Munich, February 1.

THE following Letter, written Three Weeks ago, has not been made publick till within these few Days. The Contents of it are not very extraordinary, but the Title is that which has made so much Noise in the World; and which having been variously represented, the Court has thought fit to give it to the World, to put an End to the false Reports that have been spread about it. It is, in short, no more than a Letter to the Clergy of this Electorate, to notify to them the Death of his Imperial Majesty.

Maximilian Joseph, by the Grace of God, Duke of the Higher and Lower Bavaria, and of the Upper Palatinate, Count Palatine of the Rhine, Archduke of Austria, Elector of the Holy Roman Empire, Inspector and Vicar thereof in the Countries on the Rhine, in Suabia, and in such as enjoy the Franconick Rights, Landgrave of Leuchtenberg, &c.

Respectable in God, our dear and well-beloved, we greet you well. Almighty God having through his unsatiable Counsel, and adorable Will, withdrawn out of this World, full of Trouble, Care, and Misery, the most serene and powerful Prince, Charles VII, elected Emperor of the Romans, King of Germany and Bohemia, &c. our most dear Lord and Father, on Wednesday the 20th of this Month, about Nine in the Evening, after having receiv'd the Sacraments of the Church with exemplary Devotion, and supported with extraordinary Patience, and perfect Resignation to the Divine Will, that most painful Disease with which Almighty God was pleased to exercise him; and having by the Fulness of his Imperial Authority declared Us, viva voce, and by Writing, Major; all which with great Grief we make known unto you, hoping, that for the Benefit and Repose of his Soul, you will observe, and cause to be observed, in your Chapter or Community, in like manner as has been used in such Cases, Prayers, and other Spiritual Exercises, assisting therein with Zeal and Fervour. In Quality of Sovereign of this Country, we shall always distinguish you by our Grace and Favour, and regard you in all respects with the utmost Affection.

Munich, January 21, 1745.

Extract from a Private Letter, dated Berlin, February 2, 1745.

We learn from Hanover, by a certain private Canal that may be depended on, that the Instructions of the M. de Belleissac are in a great Measure decyphered; and that it does not appear he was charged to treat this Court with a great deal of Delicacy, but rather the contrary. He was order'd to observe, that as Things stood at present, Prussia had no Reason to expect a Peace upon moderate Terms, or that it should be long kept by the House of Austria; and that therefore it import'd his Majesty to carry on the War till the Power of the Queen of Hungary was so far reduced, that he might be secure of preserving whatever was left him by a new Treaty, and not lose the Benefit of the old one. That as his Majesty was the only One of the Allies that had obtained any Satisfaction from the House of Austria for his Pretensions, in Consequence of the War; so he was engaged, not only by Faith, but by the Principles of good Policy, to procure the like Satisfaction for the rest, as the only Way to keep what he had got, by reducing the Abilities of that Power so much, as to be capable at all times not of expecting only, but of inflicting upon Justice. That as his most Christian Majesty most readily engaged in a Confederacy for obtaining Satisfaction for his Prussian Majesty's Demands, so he was willing to persist in, and to continue the War, till the Ends originally designed were accomplish'd; and Freedom and Peace, and a proper Balance of Power, fixed beyond the Possibility of Changing. That there is Reason to believe all this may be obtained by one vigorous Campaign; by his Majesty's attacking Bohemia a second time; by procuring an Insurrection in Hungary; and by marching a good Body of Troops thro' Tyrol into Italy. That while his Prussian Majesty acts on one Side, his most Christian Majesty would enter the Netherlands with an Army of 120,000 Men at least, on the other, besides maintaining a powerful Army in Germany, and a greater Body of Troops than was sent last Year into Italy. By this Means, his most Christian Majesty hopes all his Allies may obtain what they have respectively in View; without which none of them can be safe, and least of all his Prussian Majesty, who has provok'd the Court of Vienna beyond all Hopes of Pardon.

English Uisquebaugh

THE Importers and Advertisers of IRISH USQUEBAUGH, which they sell at 2 Shillings per Gallon, having been extremely lavish in their commendations of it, and extorting infinite, with equal Modesty and Truth, the name is something so peculiar Hibernian in this Composition, for it is impossible to prepare it in any Part of the World but as at Dublin or Drogheda:

At the Desire of several Gentlemen, who look upon the Peculiarity to consist rather in Price than Essence, in order to do Justice to the Produce and Manufacture of their own Country, these Importers and Advertisers entreated to answer the following Queries:

Whether the Distilling Trade has not been much improved in England than in Ireland?

Whether in the whole Composition of their Irish Uisquebaugh there is a single Ingredient, which is not to be had in Plenty, and in full as great a Degree of Perfection, as don, as at their favourite Places Dublin or Drogheda?

And if the above Improvement has been made by Distillery, and we have the finest Saffron in the World, and every other Article of Quality, why may we not make as fine Uisquebaugh as at either of the above-mentioned Places?

While their Answer is preparing, that an Appeal is before the Publick, as well as before these interested Gentlemen, a London Distiller, who desires no other Recommendation of his Uisquebaugh than what may result from his Trial, begs Leave to inform the Nobility and Gentry, that his Warehouse is open'd opposite to Garraway's Coffee-house, Exchange-Alley, where (for Ready Money) is to be had, a large Parcel of English Uisquebaugh, Greenwich Beer, at 14 s. per Gallon.

Where also may be had, Citron Water, not inferior to the Foreign, at less than the price of the finest Citrons that could be purchased at the Price; fine Spirits of Saffron at 16 s. per Gallon; Citron Water, Spirits of Cinnamon, Spirits of Cloves, and Tansy, and fine Ratafia, at 10 s. per Gallon; fine Mint, Spirits of Caraway, at 8 s. per Gallon.

Note, Gentlemen, by sending a Message to the above-mentioned Place, may be waited on with Satisfaction in their own Houses.

There being a small Number left of the following (they are to be had of William Payne, Bookseller, Durham-Yard in the Strand, and J. Payne, Bookseller in Round-Court, in the Strand, opposite to the former) in Two Volumes Folio, Price bound, £3 3 s. Small Paper, 2 l. 10 s.

To which is added,

A Supplement, containing a succinct Account of the remarkable Events which happened in the late War, wherein neither of the illustrious Generals, deserved any Share, particularly in Spain.
